RONALD KERANGO

Ronald Kerango has always had a strong desire to express himself. He has also tried to create artwork from materials found within his immediate environment as he felt he related to them and they were part of his life.

As time has gone by, Kerango's art has often sought to investigate the way in which different materials 'behave' in the process of self expression. He has also deduced that different materials could be used in setting the tone of the expression to be conveyed even before the artist puts paint to canvas.

This is evident in his work now, as different colour palettes of traditional pieces of materials are used as the background of his work. This creates a very textured finish and an exciting composition.

Kerango also seeks to tackle sensitive social issues such as gender. In his most recent pieces, he highlights the need for gender equality in Uganda by using the female form as an inspiration to his pieces.

"Ro" as he is famously known among his peers was born in 1984 in Kampala and attended the prestigious Margaret Trowel School of Industrial and Fine Arts at Makerere University and obtained a Bachelor's Degree.

In 2014, "Ro" was featured among the top 10 contemporary artists in Uganda by the Culture Trip

ADRIAN NDUMA

Adrian Nduma has earned his place as one of the promising collectable artists in Kenya as work by the artist sold at a private sale in 2012 for Sh2.2 million.

Nduma attributes his technique to influences from his former career. “Having been in advertising, form is of the essence,” he explains. He has worked with many companies in Kenya developing graphics for their advertising campaigns.

With that background in advertising and graphics Nduma’s composition, form and colour are rather unique.

Colour, beauty and abstraction are Adrian Nduma’s pillars - art for the sake of art. If you’re familiar with Adrian’s work then you know just how playfully he steers his palette.

His trance-inducing style is largely surrealistic and abstract. He also likes to experiment with various media and styles in his paintings.

The former banker holds a degree in fine art from Kenyatta University.
Having focused on full-time painting ten years ago, Nduma’s style is consistently evolving.

Fred holds a diploma in Fine Art from the Buruburu Institute of Fine Arts (BIFA) and has participated in numerous exhibitions both locally and abroad: in Nairobi at the National Museum of Kenya, Karen Blixen, La Rustique, Goethe Institute, Alliance Française and other National Arts Exhibition, ISK shows, and in Cortina, Italy.

SSALI YUSUF

Ssali Yusuf is a Ugandan artist born in 1983 at Kireka, Wakiso district. He studied Industrial & Fine Arts graduating with a BA Degree from Makerere University in Uganda.

Ssali started painting full time in 2003, after he had practiced his skills with different artists in Uganda. His inspiration comes from day to day activities done mainly by African women and cultural goings-on in African societies.

Yusuf uses oil and acrylic on canvas, but once in a while he likes to use bark cloth, a popular medium in his homeland. His paintings are rich in dark hues of royal purple and navy blue, with generous additions of warm shades to create a buffet of colour that is unmistakably the artist's signature.

He has exhibited his works at numerous galleries including the Makerere University art gallery, Tulifanya art gallery, Afriart gallery kamokya, Aid child, gallery Watatu Nairobi, RAMOMA Museum of art Nairobi, Evere commune Brussels Belgium, NATTA art in east Europe, Rue-Dela Madeleine 17 Brussels, Holland Boxmeer and others.

As a professional artist, Ssali prays that he leaves the earth with a legacy of works and to be known as a world-famous painter.

Kassi experimented with various art forms and media settling for oil and acrylic painting. He also uses ink and graphite for drawing media.

Mark draws his motivation from social issues. His works are a reflection of the people he meets, their lifestyles, and cultural values; something he seeks to express in his works both in realism and abstract form.

ZERIHUN SEYOUM

Zerihun Seyoum has been interested in art for nearly as long as he can remember, and since the age of 7 has focused his attention on art almost exclusively. By the time he was 13 years old Zerihun had won a prestigious art award from the Ethiopian Ministry of Education, for a drawing that advocated for people in Ethiopia living with HIV/AIDS, establishing his interest in subjects of a contemporary nature.

Along with his other studies, he immersed himself in art during the four years of his high school education, exploring both drawing and painting. Upon graduation from high school, Zerihun pursued a diploma in Fine Arts and Design (Painting) at Addis Ababa University, graduating in the year 2000.

Following his studies at Addis Ababa University, Zerihun taught art for three years in various art schools in and around Addis Ababa. Teaching art allowed him to hone his artistic skills, while nurturing his own passion for art and instilling that passion in others.

With these experiences in mind, Zerihun determined to establish his own studio and teaching centre, which he opened in 2003 and named “Embassy of Ideas”. Since that time Embassy of Ideas has evolved into an environment that welcomes other artists from Ethiopia and around the world – becoming an embassy of collaboration and creativity.

Zerihun’s university education introduced him to Western artistic traditions and painting styles, and his early work has a basis in a realistic, representational approach. After graduation, however, Zerihun found himself returning to stories from his childhood and traditional Ethiopian art forms, while also incorporating ideas from the Expressionist and other Modern art movements.

This fusion of artistic influence results in a distinctive painting style, in which bold colour and geometric patterning create dynamic figures, shapes and textures.

SELE AMOUR

Sele's art beautifully captures the atmosphere of Stone Town in Zanzibar, his birthplace, where shadows play in the narrow streets and alleyways. These shadows and his keen eye for detail make for a great application of his colours of choice –black and white, and the transient use of grayscales.

As a self-taught artist, whose only education in the arts was a five week long introductory course in visual arts, his use of perspective and the fine depiction of the people within give his work a feeling of life, as if one could just step into the painting and would find oneself in the middle of the maze of lanes which form Stone Town.

Sele was born in 1981; he finished his secondary education in 1999. As a professional artist Sele participated in a group exhibition at the Aga Khan Cultural Centre in Zanzibar in 2003

KIZITO MARIA KASULE

From extremely humble beginnings as a street child to earning a PhD and teaching at the Makerere University, Kizito Maria Kasule of Uganda has made a name for himself as one of Africa's Premiere artists. He is a graduate of the same University, and has been professionally involved in Art since obtaining his Bachelor's in Fine Arts in 1993. In 2003 he obtained a PhD in Fine Arts.

Kizito has been described as the "Picasso of Africa" and his oil paintings are in the homes of many distinguished diplomats, hotel and bank lobbies in Germany, Kenya, Canada, Kampala, South Africa, Entebbe, Denmark and recently Namibia, in the Terra Africa House.

His dedication to the development of the Arts has been manifested in the foundation and establishment of Uganda's first Academy of Art and Design in 2008, the 'Nagenda International Academy of Art Design' (NIAAD).

NIADD not only includes art history, oil painting, sculpting and textile design in its curriculum but also builds new connections and networks with Universities around sub-Saharan Africa and internationally. ANTHONY OKELLO

In 2013, Anthony's Masquerade series earned the highest price ever fetched by an artwork from a Kenyan artist at the Bonham's Auction in London when it was auctioned for £6,250; making him one of Kenya's most celebrated and sought after artists.

Anthony's artistic journey is one that he says has been filled with more questions than answers. He delved into the world of fine art immediately after college, but found numerous challenges. Always looking for 'a new language of expression' Anthony took to art because he liked that he could tell his stories the way he wanted to through this medium.

To Okello, art is 10% hard work and 90% open, honest conversation. This is why Anthony finds it very fulfilling to make pieces with the theme of popular stories and beliefs.

In the past few years, he has taken it upon himself to build a body of works around the understanding of African traditional stories and mythology. This has resulted in a series of paintings characterized by a dreamy nature.

Using generous amounts of oil, Anthony's stories come to life on the canvas as he seeks to tell different stories in his own particular way.

Born in Awendo in 1976, Okello studied graphic design at the Buruburu Institute of Fine Art. He has exhibited in Kenya and abroad, in France, Uganda and the Netherlands, among other places.

JOSEPH CARTOON

Since selling his first piece in 1994 to Gallery Watatu, one of the earliest & most prestigious galleries of the time, Kenyan artist Joseph Cartoon (Joseph Njuguna) has participated in numerous group exhibitions and solo shows in East Africa, USA, Canada, France, Germany, Denmark, Japan, and Korea among other countries.

Some of his achievements include appearing on the cover of Contemporary African Art, a prestigious annual catalogue on Contemporary Art in Africa (1999) and winning the Royal Overseas League Award (2001, as well as being the only nominee from Africa). The latter award earned him a 2 year residency in the UK after which he continued to participate in local and world art projects that have seen him become one of the most collected artists in Kenya.

The powerful interplay of symbolism and colour is outstanding in Cartoon's art that mainly features the traditional African woman, folk tales and daily aspects of the African family. Other outstanding features are mushrooms indicating the rich highlands where he was born and a chameleon acknowledging ever changing times. Fish stand for the importance of good food and of trade.

Historian Sidney Kasfir (in 'Contemporary African Art', 1999) describes him as an artist whose work "possesses an exuberance which is extremely difficult for formally trained artists to achieve."

Joseph started drawing when he was in primary school. After completing his secondary education, where the subject of art was not taught, he met artist Shine Tani on his way to his uncle's house. It is through him that Cartoon's engagement in art was revived again. Shine introduced Cartoon to Gallery Watatu in 1994 where the late Ruth Scheffner purchased three of his paintings.

The drive behind the passion in Cartoon's heart is to see Kenyan and African art exhibited worldwide and artists free to express themselves globally.

Joseph was born in the village of Ngecha in 1976. Now in his mid-thirties, Cartoon is at his career's peak and continues a very active professional life. Early in 2009, his works were on the Scandinavian Tour Exhibition "Africa/ Now"(Denmark, Norway and Finland), while he had an exhibition at RaMoMa Museum in Nairobi, Kenya and at Mawazo Gallery, in Dar-es-Salaam, Tanzania.

EVARIST CHIKAWWE

Evarist Chikawe's paintings are based on Tanzania's rich culture and traditions, trying to preserve these age-old cultural roots. The artist is inspired by strong colours that are normally seen from the dressing of Tanzanians, especially women. He mostly engages in figurative drawings of the human form because he believes that his life revolves around that of other people.

Evarist says that the human figures in his paintings give people an opportunity to easily understand the subjects he wants to portray, as they are easy to relate to from the beholders eye. And although Chikawe's style keeps on evolving, he keeps true to his chosen subject of figurative drawing.

Insisting that he engages in art for his own gratification, as his paintings bring him a sense of joy as he completes them, Chikawe also states that he sells his work because he believes art is there to be shared.

Evarist was born in Dodoma, Tanzania in 1974. After having spent time painting in his youth, Evarist started exhibiting his works at the age of 23. Asked about his life as an artist he says: "Art is good and I am happy being an artist."

SEBANDEKE MOHAMAD

Sebandeke is a creative Ugandan artist who showed exceptional talent at an early age. He comes from a family with artistic pedigree and he frequently watched his mum produce various designs and motifs on textile.

His defining moment came at the age of 16 when he decided to be a full-fledged artist after witnessing the success of his two older brothers in the art industry; and since then he has come to grow in leaps and bounds.

Sebandeke's subjects revolve around life and the activities that take place in his immediate environment and places he has visited. He brings together his subjects in a beautiful fusion of mellow colours and mostly weaves his magic using acrylic paints that show his background in making motifs.

The artist was born in 1991 and has had several exhibitions both in Uganda and internationally. These include; Morocco, The U.A.E., Zambia, Zagreb, Japan, Kenya, Zanzibar, Japan, Turkey, Germany, Tanzania, Rwanda, USA among others.

Sebandeke's works can also be seen in the MTN Headquarters in Rooderpoort, Johannesburg, South Africa.

DENNIS MURAGURI

Dennis Muraguri is a Kenyan artist who was born in 1980 in Naivasha. He attended the Buru Buru Institute of Fine Arts in Nairobi between 2000-2003, where he graduated top of his class and attained a Diploma in Painting and History of Art.

Muraguri says he finds the overall inspiration for both his paintings and sculptures in globalization.

The message in Muraguri's work is positive and reflective, it tells the story that Africa is no longer the 'Dark Continent' but it is becoming more and more modernized and affected by technology.

Please go to page 169 to view Muraguri's sculptures. His works are a representations of the industrialization in Kenya and most of them are inspired by music, as can be seen his use of parts of instruments or metal shaped as such.

All sculptures are mixed media where wood and metal are combined. The metal used represents the people who manufacture all kinds of things. The wood, on the other hand, symbolizes the natural side of life.

YASSIR ALI

Yassir Ali is a Sudanese artist who is currently living in Nairobi, Kenya. He graduated in 1997 from the Fine Art Department of Sudan University for Science and Technology.

His art work is inspired by Nubian culture. He uses the Nubian motifs colours and atmosphere. His paintings are intense and full of texture dotted with patches of vibrant paint on an already bright canvas. Yassir's work is loaded with colours of blue, red, ochre and orange. Since 1998 Yassir has been involved in many projects for Sudanese children, for example Nafage Art Workshop at Abd elKarim Mirghani Cultural Center (AKMCC), Sudan. He is also responsible for promoting help for displaced and deprived children since 2000 for organization called Children's Culture of AKMCC.

LEENA SHAH

Leena was born and raised in Kenya and is a self-taught artist from an early age. Although she couldn't study art in her formative years, she kept doing it as a hobby by regularly taking part in competitions.

She got an opportunity to study art in High School where she won the best upcoming Artist award. Since then she has explored and experimented with a range of mediums.

Her passion for travel also opened her up to different types of art and her appreciation of expressing one's self through art grew. She visited museums, galleries, cultural markets and workshops everywhere she went.

These extensive travels across the world and art courses with some elite artists both in the US and in the UK have over the years inspired a new dimension to her paintings and influenced them greatly in terms of composition and execution.

This can also be seen in her range of paintings dedicated to the coast of Kenya. Playful hues of aqua, greens, purples and blues merge together in a colorful dance.

In 2013, she was featured in The Kenya Arts Diary and thereafter, she moved back to Kenya in January 2014 and has since been teaching art to 6-10 year old children.

Her paintings are in private collections in Nairobi, London, Switzerland, Chicago, New York, San Francisco, Australia and South Africa.

GERALDINE ROBARTS

Geraldine Robarts was born in London in 1939, and grew up in South Africa. Although she was the youngest ever student to be accepted for the Slade School of Art in London, she elected to complete her studies in South Africa, receiving a first class honours degree in Fine Art from the University of Witwatersrand. She later gained MA in Education from the University of Nairobi.

In 1968 she was selected to exhibit in “Artists of Fame and Promise” in Liverpool, England and in 1977 she took the Gold Medal at the arts competition in Palermo, Italy. She has exhibited worldwide and her work is in both institutional and private collections. For many years Geraldine was a lecturer in Fine Art, first at Makerere University, Kampala and then at Kenyatta University, Nairobi. Geraldine is a Canadian landed immigrant and in 1989 worked as Visiting Professor in Art Education at McGill University, Montreal. She has a large family living in Canada, China, England, Germany, South Africa and the USA. She won the open prize for designing the Africa Hall at Expo 2000, Hannover.

She is a Baha’i and has been a prominent worker with women’s groups in Kenya since 1972. In the early 1960’s she brought the craft of Batik making from Indonesia to Uganda and then to Kenya because the price of paints, brushes, and canvas was beyond the pocket of local artists, and in the early 1990’s created workshops for making colourful ornamental sisal weaving and wall hangings in Kitui, Kenya. She also introduced solar fruit drying of mangoes and for 20,000 people at Kalimani, Kitui, facilitated the development of the health centre and water scheme providing water even in times of drought.

SUE MAAS

The second of eight children, Sue was born to parents that were both creative, especially her mother, who was an accomplished portrait painter and sculptor. Her dad introduced them to the great outdoors and this is where her love of wildlife and nature was born.

Sue draws her inspiration from all creation. The diverse characteristics of nature; flora and fauna, and the feeling of satisfaction that she gets from creating these stories on a surface using a handful of tools drive her.

Working mostly in realism and using oils, Sue hopes to draw the viewer into her world to impart to the onlooker the beauty of the created world of wildlife and of human beings. She would like to inspire humankind to be aware of the beauty and that we as the 'keepers' of this planet have the responsibility to safe it for future generations.

Sue was born in 1949 in Mutare, Zimbabwe and studied graphic art at the Bulawayo Art School, Zimbabwe. She is well travelled and has had stays in Zimbabwe, Mozambique, Lesotho and South Africa. When asked about her undeniable talent and what is behind it, Sue simply answers; 'It is in my blood!'

DAMBA ISMAIL MUSOKE

Damba Ismail Musoke was born in 1982 in Rubaga, Kampala, Uganda. He joined Makerere University's Margaret Towell's school of Industrial and Fine Art in 2002 and graduated in 2005 with a BIFA hon. majoring in Illustrations and Drawing.

At the Ngoma International Artists workshops, an organization that promotes young and established Ugandan artists, Damba participated in exhibitions exposing him to the world of art beyond borders.

Ismail has been exhibiting since 2002, and participated in the East Africa Art Biennale in 2005 and 2007. In 2007 he was also featured in an exhibition of Ugandan artists in Denmark and has won several prizes and awards for painting and print making.

" Everything I do in my art is about belief, the ability to accept what I feel inside as well as what I see all around me, to have faith in it, and to document what I see and feel through the medium of my art.

My images – especially of birds – are metaphors for this. My themes are the challenges of the society and of the environment I live in: Culture, politics and economies, the effects of globalization; people, their activities and opinions, their perceived social status, and the political hopelessness I too often sense here; the fate of our wildlife and the state of the natural world.

Line and colour are the common constituents of all art but the real essence for me is the relevance of the statement contained within. "

NADIA KISSELEVA

In 1980, Nadia left her homeland of Russia for Africa. Her experience in Africa has been a major influence on Nadia's work. It provided for the development of the vivid and intense colour palette and the strong dramatic contrasts in her paintings. It also introduced a number of new themes and concepts to her artistic range.

Hers is a spontaneous style of painting which is easily recognizable. It also strongly reflects her daring and expressive personality. She tries to challenge the norms of art and question the boundaries of her own artistic routine.

Nadia has over time flourished as an artist and in 2003 she was awarded the Royal Birmingham Society of Artists Prize for the most innovative painting. In the year 2006 Nadia successfully graduated from Wimbledon School of Art (University of Arts London) with BA in painting and a year later completed her studies at the Camberwell College of Art (University of Arts London)

She has taken part in numerous group exhibitions (over two hundred) and has had over a dozen of successful solo shows in Kenya and the UK. In 2002 she was elected as a member of the Royal Birmingham Society of artists (RBSA)

Kisseleva is also an active member of the Birmingham Society of Artists. Her work can be found in private collections in the United States, the United Kingdom, Kenya, Denmark, Austria and other countries. In 2009 she was named by Gallery 94, London, as one of three most promising woman painters in London art scene in the exhibition 'Three Women Artists'. Her work is on permanent display at the State House, Nairobi.

Nadia received her formal training at Ryazan College of Art in Russia and now lives and works in Diani Beach, on the South Coast of Kenya.

EVELINE HASSELMAN

Eveline was born in the Netherlands and has lived and worked in France, Spain, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, Norway, Slovenia, Macedonia, Tunisia, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Kenya. After having travelled the world for many years, she decided to live on Diani Beach and spend most of her time at her easel, sketching and painting.

Twenty years ago, she met Poen de Wijs and Marion van Nieuwpoort, both famous artists in the Netherlands. After having met Eveline, they fell in love with Kenya and became her teachers, holding art classes both in The Hague and Diani.

After Marion's death in 2008, Eveline has been privileged to participate for a few months each year in Poen's international master classes, thus keeping abreast of any innovative techniques in the world of art. After all the art sessions in Poen's studio in the Hague, Eveline returns to Diani bursting with ideas for new drawings and paintings, eager to put her visions on canvas.

Eveline is endlessly fascinated and inspired by Kenya's grand nature, its splendid colours and beautiful light. She loves capturing its faces, flowers and wildlife on paper and canvas. She mostly uses soft pastel crayons for her portraits and acrylics for her paintings.

Her works of art emanate an atmosphere which hovers in between realism and abstract explosions of colour and movement.

She has exhibited her works of art successfully all over Europe and Africa, most recently in 2013 at the United Nations in Nairobi.

MICHAEL SOI

Born in 1972, Michael graduated from art school in 1996 and now works as a full time artist in Nairobi, Kenya.

Michael worked with Kuona Trust from 1996 to 2009. He was the coordinator in charge of International Exchange of the Wasanii International Artists' Workshop and The International Artist Residency in Kenya.

He says his work is as simple as can be. 'I try to create an attitude of what you see might be what you get from it. I am involved in work that deletes, distorts and changes various images into what I want them to be, and am excited by the subtle play that erasure seems to create when executed in certain ways.'

'My work mostly touches on issues related to the youth like fashion trends, music and life in general. It is not about the suppression of images or the negation of what the image represents, but is about obscuring the images in order to create a different relationship between the final piece and the viewer.'

BONIFACE MAINA

For the past four years, Boniface has worked as a self-representative artist. His inspiration is drawn from social events in relation to how we react toward them.

He uses acrylics as his preferred medium because he feels it lets him put together all the elements and effects he needs in a painting as fast and as fresh as possible.

A look at his works and you will see that Boniface likes to incorporate a dream-like feature in his work to try and bring out what is on his mind both on a conscious and subconscious level.

Boniface was born in Nanyuki, Kenya, in the year 1987. Art is not only a talent he has had since I was little but also a passion. In 2006-2008, he attended the Y.M.C.A National Training Institute in Nairobi where I attained a Diploma in Art and Design.

GEORGE KILLEEN & THE MASQUERADE SERIES

In many cultures, masks have played a crucial historical role in the development of understanding of what it means to be human. Essentially masks can permit the imaginative experience of the wearer to be transformed; be it sacred, practical or playful.

When I started this series of paintings, I initially thought masks were designed to 'cover up'. However, maybe the mask is more than just a means of disguise. It can also be an intercessor, a medium of transformation and an object of reflection.

I begin to ask myself; 'have I allowed living in Kenya to transform me? Am I putting outward that which usually lives inward? Will these paintings connect with others in a shared understanding of the human condition; that we are all capable of creating and transforming ourselves in an effort to finally remove the many masks wear to be our true selves?'

ANNE MWITI

In the little village of Meru on the slopes of Mount Kenya, a five year old Anne Mwiti made an abstract drawing of a girl. Her father inspected it and modified it. That was her first art lesson and from then on, she has never looked back.

She has slowly but steadily created a name for herself as an abstract artist whose pieces dwell on African thoughts and experiences, brought to life on the canvas by generous amounts of oils.

Anne draws inspiration from numerous sources. This can be seen in her body of works. 'Looking ForThe Other Half' documents the artists' belief whereby all beings have a relationship with others and are searching for their other half, making them whole.

The artist is also inspired by nature; this can be seen in her work titled 'The Blue Valley' which seeks to show the natural beauty of the Aberdare Mountains in Rift Valley, with waterfalls and mixed vegetation bringing both man and nature together in celebration.

When at the National Museums of Kenya, Anne created 'The Meditating Boy', a painting she attributes to the oldest bones in human history. Anne is currently a lecturer in the Department of Art and Design at Kenyatta University in Nairobi where she is working on her PhD. She has won several commissions; her art has been in exhibitions numerous times and has also been sold to private collectors overseas.

JJUUKO HOODS

Born in 1980, Jjuuko Hoods is one of the few Ugandan artists who have represented his country internationally.

He's a graduate with a first class degree from Kampala University and the Director and founder of GECKO Art Gallery Uganda.

Since 2000 Jjuuko has been very famous for his unique technique of bark cloth painting. He has managed to expand his scope of experiment by also venturing into media like recycled polythene bags, wood & metal fabrication and copper wire used on canvas.

Jjuuko succeeded in transforming contemporary African art out of the craft and artifact classification by integrating both modernity and traditional concept. He is an icon of the contemporary artist generation with a highly motivated goal of changing the landscape of Ugandan art in particular and African art in general.

JOHN KAMICHA

The son of well-known artist Zachariah Mbutia, John has been raised in an atmosphere of art. He is a highly creative and sensitive young man, also known for his whacky sense of humour, which obviously manifests itself in his pieces.

Kamicha has done a series of works using Khangas (women's traditional wraps) as canvas. He paints and draws around the traditional motifs on the material making the background become part of the finished piece.

Through this technique he brings the act of painting closer to his own culture and experience.

Those familiar with his work can see a crystallization of his talents over the last year and his recent work is very exciting and holds promise of a lot more to come.

MOSES NYAWANDA

Moses Nyawanda comes from Kericho district, high in Kenya's famed western tea growing area, where he was born in 1972.

At high school he designed the school's barge, still in use today. Nyawanda joined the Creative Art Centre (Nairobi) in 1993 for a three year diploma in Fine Arts, after which he worked as a laboratory assistant for he could not afford to go into art as a full time career. He soon adapted lab tools to his artistic advantage; spatulas for painting, palette knives, scalpels for etching and Petri dishes as palettes.

With a style entirely his own, he soon attracted the attention of art lovers in Nairobi and exhibitions at the British and French embassies followed. Moses attended various sponsored workshops. He learned mainly common techniques but the training equipped the budding artist to make a living with handicrafts, while devoting some time to his desire to experiment with modern art. Moses was drawn mostly to the abstract.

He has since participated in multiple group and solo exhibitions, winning him art prizes. Most of his paintings are done on canvas and his subjects are the people of Kenya. Moses uses gesture and facial expressions to the extreme in abstract almost cubistic form to express his dedication to his subject study. He is today one of Africa's renowned abstract artist. His works are well worth collecting.

SIMON MURIITHI

Born in a small village on the slopes of the Aberdare Mountains in 1973, Simon Muriithi is a self-taught Kenyan artist of great repute.

As far as he can remember, Simon has thought of art as a great pastime owing greatly to the inspiration he got from his mother, whom he describes as an avid art lover, and also from teachers when he finally got to school.

When Simon was in class one, he won an art award, his first, which further encouraged the prodigy to take this profession very seriously. Little did he know that it would be the first of many, including being voted as one of the twelve most outstanding artists in the Housing Finance visual art exhibition and second prize in a competition organized by the Hotel Intercontinental.

Simon says he did not get any formal art training other than the introductory studies every student goes through, though his interest was nurtured at home where he got art materials from his encouraging mother.

He has gone on to be a professional artist, exhibiting both locally and abroad. His style is abstract and bold, with intricate designs flowing through his acrylics.

Simon is a modest artist, saying of his fortunes: “I am happy that God has given me the talent of art.”

DAVID MAIDEN

David Maiden is a young British artist who was brought up in the beautiful scenery of the Lake District National Park in the north of England.

After University, he spent four years in London exhibiting his work in a number of galleries. Two years ago David and his wife Joanna decided to pack up their lives in London and move here to the Kenyan coast in search of inspiration for his new work.

Before moving to Kenya, David used to paint almost exclusively in black and white. This quickly changed once he arrived in Africa. David fell in love with the vibrancy of the bright coastal colours, with the regions rich hues, the variety of landscapes and the versatility of cultures reflected in the human form. All this has now become characteristic for his art.

David initially trained as a photographer before turning his attention to painting almost 10 years ago. Photography has a big influence on his work which is often very photographic in detail.

But unlike in photographs, an untamed edge to David's work makes it all the more fascinating, where his finishing is mostly sketchy and dreamy.

David paints a wide subject matter but specializes in portraits and scenery with some of his portraits having been commissioned by clients around the world.

YONAS MELESA

Born in Ethiopia, Yonas started his artistic journey at a young age and says that science aims to know, while art endeavors to express, a school of thought that he feels is open to all.

As an artist whose style is that of minimalism, where less is more, he says he draws a lot of inspiration from both natural and artificial forms, mostly geometrical in nature.

Yonas uses art as a channel of expression to deal with his inner conflicts, fears and tensions as well as show his audience what he aspires to, hopes for while also highlighting his personal ideals.

As a full time studio artist who uses a range of media, he hopes that his work may reflect his convictions and enforce positive social change.

EPHREM SOLOMON

Ephrem Solomon Tegegn is an Ethiopian artist born in Addis Ababa in 1985. After he finished high school he went on to art school to realize his childhood dream of becoming an artist and graduated with a Diploma in Graphics from Entoto Art School 2009.

Ephrem is inspired by socio-political feelings concerning human and natural life. Sometimes he paints on themes that reflect his personal experiences; things that happened to him in his past and his vision for the future.

Generally, he believes life is composed of two colors: black, and white. What is real and what is not.

Ephrem expresses that he sometimes feels a strong need to create paintings that are unapologetically descriptive of the things that happen in his immediate surroundings: A view of the city, people he knows, familiar hallways and spaces, or elements of nature that appeal to him.

At times his work depicts a different kind of 'reality', one that is highly fictitious and free of the limitations of truthfully recording his experiences. Chairs in his work express the past, present and future.

PATRICK MULONDO

Patrick Mulondo is one of Uganda's youngest yet most promising talents- he fuses a burning love for sculpting and a great talent for visual arts in a highly dynamic way.

Patrick is intrigued by the challenge of creating entirely unique pieces from a largely random collection of discarded objects by welding, and is particularly fond of the human form.

Mulondo feels that giving these old, common items a new and extraordinary life in the form of sculpture is artistically very challenging, yet he gets a huge sense of gratification from the process and ultimately the completion of his breathtaking works.

The artist also designs his pieces so that they can be highly interactive and prompt viewers to question the reality of what they see. Some are left unfinished to add to the element of mysticism that he seeks to convey.

When asked what drives him, Mulondo says, "My classmate reactions fuel my motivation." One look at any of the sculptor's pieces and you will understand why!

Mulondo was born in Uganda in 1989 and holds a Bachelor degree in Fine Arts degree from Makerere University.

GAKUNJU KAIGWA

Gakunju Kaigwa has been sculpting since the early 1980s after receiving a Bachelor of Education degree in Fine Arts from Kenyatta University. He later obtained a Master's Degree in Fine Arts from the University of Dundee in Scotland.

With his extensive experience at academies and apprenticeships in Europe and the United States, Gakunju may well be the most versatile sculptor in Nairobi.

His materials range from stone, wood and bronze, to steel, resin and fiber-glass. He sees his artistic role as that of a storyteller and feels that he has been given a unique opportunity to chronicle and comment on the times in which he lives in a visual and tangible format.

He is interested in the limitless potential of mixed media and plans to take his work to a larger scale, possibly as commissioned in public spaces throughout Kenya.

TOM ONEYA

There are very few clay sculptors in developing countries like Kenya. This is because the training is not diversified enough to show and encourage the potential of artists and to help further their talents.

However, born in the early 1960's Tom Otieno Oneya already developed a strong interest in the art of clay sculpture in his young childhood years. He had no proper art teacher throughout his primary level of education, a factor that did not hinder the progress of his unique talent in working with this medium.

A new wind of positive transformation on Oneya's quality of art blew when he joined Nyabondo High School for his secondary education.

At this school Tom managed to join a group of young and talented artist under the tutelage of the late Father Leo Bartels of Nyabondo Mission in Kisumu district. Under the guidance of Father Leo, Tom could develop and hone his skills in the fine art of clay sculpturing.

After completing his secondary education Tom joined the Agoro Sare High school. He was admitted as the only student for the subject of Art. The lack of peers did not discourage him in his passion for the subject, and he enjoyed the focus and attention of an art teacher hired especially for him.

Finally, Oneya joined the Kenya Polytechnic in 1989 for his Diploma Course in Graphic Design.

Tom decided to become a fulltime artist after he successfully completed his college training and now works full time as a clay sculptor.

Jack of all Trades

The piece is based on how some people want to do it all, regardless of whether others can do it better or not. In a political sense this refers to dictators who want to run everything their way, which of course is not the best way of handling things in a modern society!

Obama or The Portrait of a Politician

This piece is firstly the portrait of Obama, but deeper still, it is the image of most politicians. One side of the sculpture shows a politician with a microphone, symbolizing the media. The media portray their opponents as the beast [back side of the sculpture] but in the end they are one and the same and if tables were turned the latter would do the same. The chain symbolizes the fact that politicians are also slaves to their politics.

KEPHA MOSOTI

As a youth, Kepha started honing his artistic skills by figure, nature and landscape drawing, but the urge to sculpt grew more and more as years went by.

He is now one of Kenya's foremost sculptors.

Nyanza province and Kisii in particular, where Kepha was born and raised, has a rich history of curving and sculpting, and this had a great influence in his career as an artist.

His wooden and mixed media sculptures are characterized by a blend of both realism and abstract forms. Using fire sometimes, he achieves remarkable results as the wood and its features are accentuated by burning them and later brushing off the edges.

He also paints, but leans more towards sculpting as he feels 3 dimensional pieces readily express emotion, including features and expressions on the human face. He favours the human form too saying he relates to it better than anything else.

Kepha also makes exemplary pieces based on footwear, with some that have socio-political stories behind them. The sculptor is heavily inspired by fellow Kenyan artists Cyrus Kabiru and particularly Dennis Muraguri, who he shares similar themes. He holds a Diploma in Fine Arts from the Buruburu Institute of Fine Arts and currently works in the Kenyan capital; Nairobi.

KASHYAP GOHEL & ARJUN SINGH

Kashyap Gohel and Arjun Singh Assa are a partnership of two young artists, whose combined passion for natural materials gave rise to art in wood as their first of many future materials.

Schooled together in Mombasa these two friends bonded due to common interests and began developing unique forms of art.

Arjun Singh SewakAssa, who is currently interning at his family's furniture workshop, Ranjodh Ltd. was born in Mombasa and practically brought up in the family workshop.

Due to this, he has developed a profound affinity for woodwork. His style embraces deeply abstract thinking and organic shapes.

Kashyap Pravin Gohel, is a self-taught artist who currently is in his third year pursuing Bachelor of Architecture at JKUAT, Main campus. His style revolves largely around meaningful aesthetics and fusion of different materials. He is also a One Young World Ambassador having attended the Pittsburgh and South Africa (Johannesburg) leadership summits.

Collectively, their subjects take on a 3 Dimensional form through wooden sculptures that are layered. This creates for a splendid effect. They create various textures on their pieces through manually adding them while depending on the wood grain to add aesthetics through different shades and hues.

Both sculptors graduated with the International Baccalaureate Diploma Program at the Aga Khan Academy, Mombasa, and Arjun additionally took up a Higher Level Visual Arts course.

PETER KENYANYA

Peter Kenya Oendo was born in 1977 into a family of sculptors at a rural village known as Bomware, Tabaka in Gucha South district about 350 kms away from the capital centre of Kenya; Nairobi.

He is a natural talent and didn't have the privilege of learning art at any institute. In 1996, after high school, Kenya worked in Nakuru as a sculptor, but two years down the line decided to move on to the outskirts of Nairobi where he worked for an arts firm for another year.

He then moved in with his cousin, who was doing sculptures for an Asian client where he got valuable experience. In 2000 he quit sculpting and ventured into production and selling of curio and handcrafts. In 2006 he went back to full time art and got his breakthrough in 2008 when he became fully independent.

Kenya's sculptures are elaborate works of art with immaculate finishing. He gets his inspiration from Mr. Naftali Momanyi, a long time friend and mentor from his high school days.

Kenya is actively involved in various charitable ventures and owns a studio at the Kuona Trust in Hurlingham, Nairobi. He would in future want to build a studio in the countryside to nurture young art and give it a platform to develop.
